CITY SUED FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

Mrs. Bertie Jarvis Files Suit in Jackson Circuit Court for Alleged Injuries Sustained by Fall.

MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN

Accident Occurred on Laurel Street, Between Lynn and Beech on March 18, 1919.

The city of Seyomur is made defendant in a $10,000 damage suit case which has just been filed in the Jackson circuit court by Mrs. Bertie Jarvis, through her attorney, A. C. Branaman. The case is the result of an accident which occurred on Laurel street several weeks ago when the plaintiff fell fracturing her hip and sustaining other injuries.

It is set out in the complaint that or or about March 18, 1919, the plaintiff had occasion to walk along the north side of Laurel street between Lynn and Beech streets, where a large and worn hole, it is alleged, was allowed to remain in the traveled portion. By the carelessness and neglience of the defendant, it is set out, that about 7:30 p. m. on the said date the plaintiff had occasion to pass the hole and in so doing, stepped on a brick at the edge of said hole and was tilted and thrown into the said hole in said sidewalk and was thereby greatly injured, having her left hip fractured and the ligaments and muscles torn loose in the said left hip and thigh of left leg, rendering a permanent injury.

The complaint also sets out that the plaintiff is the mother of seven children and financial circumstances of the family make it necessary that she help her husband in supporting them which she was doing at the time of the accident having been on her way to get a washing which she had been engaged to do the following day. It is also stated in the complaint that the hole in the said street had been in bad condition for a period of six months prior to the accident and that no lantern or sign had been placed there to warn pedestrians of the danger.

The plaintiff also says "that she has been disabled to labor for life and put to great expenses in doctor bills and other expenses brought about by the defendant's careless neglect and not on the part of plaintiff, but to her damage in the sum of $10,000 wherefore plaintiff asks that she be given judgment against the defendant city for $10,000 damages and costs and for all other proper relief."

ONE OF SEVENTEEN MEN OF COMPANY TO ESCAPE

Chester Bell, of Borden, Visiting Uncle Here—Four Days in Battle Without Food.

Chester Bell, of Borden, who is visiting his uncle, J. E. Bell, South Walnut street, had the good fortune to participate in four of the biggest battles on the west front in France and escape without a scratch. His experiences were unusual. He was a member of Company E, 30th Division 119th Infantry, and aided in breaking down the Hindenburg line in twenty minutes, just after the Germans dropped pamphlets among the American soldiers, claiming that the Hindenburg barrier could not be broken in a century of fighting.

"When we found those leaflets we were determined that the Hindenburg line should not hold us back said Young Bell. "The artillery laid down a wonderful barrage and did effective destructive work. Then we went over and twenty minutes after we started we were talking on the shatered concrete work of the Hindenburg line.'"

Bell was one of the seventeen men out of his company of about 250 men to escape death or injury on September 29 when the Hindenburg line was smashed. Four four days in another battle he went without food the infantry advancing so rapidly that the supply trains could not keep up with them. He said they had found plenty of food in the German territory, but were afraid to eat it for fear it was poisoned.

Bell was recently discharged at Camp Zachary Taylor. The division was made up in South Carolina and was known as the "Old Hickory Division."

WOODSTOCK PROVES STUMBLING BLOCK

Extensionists See Some Knotty Problems if That Suburb is Incorporated in City.

WOULD MEAN TWO TAX RATES

Section Located in Redding Township While Balance of City is in Jackson Township.

The advocates of extending the city boundary lines so that some of the suburbs are included in the corporate limits of Seymour, see some complicated questions ahead if Woodstock, just north of the city, is included. While it is not definitely decided that any extension will be favored after the preliminary survey, which began today, is completed, it is generally expected that some changes will be made. Some of the extensionists have considered it as a matter of course that Woodstock would be included.

Among the questions which might arise is the double tax rate that would follow. Woodstock is located in Redding township while the balance of the city is in Jackson township. Heretofore the tax rate has been the same for all residents of the city, but if Woodstock is included another tax rate for that section would be necessary as the levies for Jackson and Redding townships are not the same.

Another question that might cause some trouble is the matter of the consolidated school building at Woodstock. If the city is extended to include that territory, public schools would have to be provided and some arrangement would have to be made to take care of the Redding township property now located there. Lyman Gruber, township trustee, has made inquiry of a number of the city officials relative to the proposed move so he can decide what action he will take.

The special committee of the council composed of Goodale, Emery and Collins, started out on a preliminary inspection of the boundaries this morning. They are accompanied by Robert Hall, city engineer, who will make a tabulation of all property that will be affected by the change. The valuation of the property can then be secured from the books of the county assessor, and some idea of the increase tax incomes will be given. At the same time the committee will report on the probable expense of maintaining the suburbs to be included.

DISSOLUTION OF DEFENSE COUNCIL

Members of County Organization Which Did Efficient War Work Relieved of Duties.

PROCLAMATION BY GOVERNOR

Goodrich Speaks of Fine Spirit of Loyalty and Patriotism Which Was Shown By Members.

The Jackson county council of defense along with the other organizations of the kind in Indiana went out of existence today. The dissolution was effective with a proclamation by Governor Goodrich in which he lauded the members for their splendid manifestations and patriotism. The councils served without compensation.

The Jackson county council of defense did excellent work during the trying days of the war. The last act of the body was to arrange for the trip of returned soldiers to Indianapolis for the Welcome Home Celebration.

The proclamation by the Governor follows:

Just two years ago at the direction of the federal government, I issued a call for the organization of the Indiana council of defense. These years have been filled with events of trying importance to mankind—glorious events so far as the American people are concerned. For during that time we have fought and won a great war, have rushed to the assistance of the forces fighting the battles of humanity in Europe and

ARGUMENTS IN WILL CASE HEARD TODAY

State Case Against Frank Franklin Set for Trial in the Jackson Circuit Court Tuesday.

Arguments of attorneys in the case of Maud V. Jean vs. Beldora Burrell were heard by Judge Edwards, of Mitchell, acting as special judge in the Jackson circuit court today. The plaintiffs seek to break a will in which the defendant was the beneficiary.

Several attorneys from over the county were in court today looking after cases for their clients that will come up for hearing during the May term. The case of the state vs. Frank Franklin, charged with violating the liquor laws, is set for trial in circuit court tomorrow. Several people from this city will be called to Brownstown as witnesses in the case. Franklin has three other similar cases pending against him in circuit court, four indictments having been returned against him by the last grand jury.

COMMISSION WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

Ele Stansbury, Attorney-General Instructed to Appeal The Local Water Works Case.

JURISDICTION IN QUESTION

Commission Wants to Know Over What Plants it is Empowered to Exercise Authority.

Decision has been definitely reached by the Indiana public service commission to prosecute an appeal in the case of the Seymour Water Company against the commission in which John H. Edwards, of Mitchell, special judge, recently held in circuit court that the commission could not molest the present rate schedule until after January 1, 1920. It is said that the commission was undecided as to the appeal in the local case inasmuch as the injunction which was granted was extended only to next January and the decision of the supreme court will not likely be handed down before that time. John M. Lewis, city attorney, insisted upon the prosecution of the appeal as he believes that if the Edwards' decision is reversed, the ruling of the commission ordering lower rates will be effective from the date of its issuance, more than a year ago.

The commission, it is understood, is anxious to have the question of its jurisdiction finally determined. There are two classes of public utilities, the Edwards' decision holds. The first are those which elected to surrender their franchises and to operate under what

LOAN FIGURES FOR INDIANA NOT COMPLETE

Nothing Heard From Vigo County, Only Lagging Unit in State Saturday.

By United Press

Indianapolis, May 12—No reports were received by state loan headquarters from Victory loan units over the state today, and it was thought no additional information would be received before night. The county units were finishing their work and it is necessary that this be completed before the final results can be known. It was not known whether Vigo, the one lagging county, had subscribed its quota, but the remaining sixty-seven counties of Indiana in the Seventh district and all the twenty-four in the Eighth cleaned up Indiana's record for an oversubscription for at least $2,784,000.

DUAL MONARCHY WILL BE REDUCED

Austro-Hungarian Treaty To Provide for Economic Rehabilitation of Nation.

DEFINITION OF BOUNDARIES

Tyrol Will Become Italian Under Provisions of the Past to Be Submitted.

By United Press

Paris, May 12.—The Austro-Hungarian peace terms, while designed to reduce the former dual monarchy to the status of a third class nation will provide for its economic rehabilitation, it was learned from authoritative sources today. The treaties are expected to be ready for presentationthis week.

The outstanding feature naturally will be the definition of boundaries. This will officially establish the independence of Hungaria and two republics of Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia. No doubt will be allowed to remain regarding the independence of German Austria. As in the German treaty the first section of the Austro-Hungarian pact will be the league of nations. Other salient points the United Press is able to state will be as follows:

Boundaries—Austria will be reduced to what is now known as Germen Austria. Banal and Tonasvar will be awarded to Jugo Slavia. In the Hungarian treaty a large part of Transylvania will go to Roumania. Tyrol will become Italian.

ALLIES TO REPLY TO GERMAN NOTES

German Delegates Claim Some of the Labor Reforms Urged Have Already Been Made.

CONFERENCE IS REQUESTED

Enemy Representatives Also Want Return of 400,000 German Prisoners.

By United Press

Paris, May 12.—The allies were expected to reply today to the latest German communications regarding the peace terms.

These communications were contained in two notes filed with the French foreign office by Count Brokdorff-Rantzau, head of the enemy delegation. The first stated that Germany already has many of the reforms contained in the labor section of the treaty and proposed that an international law conference be held in Versailles at once to revise this article. The second asked that the 400,000 German war prisoners be repatriated as soon as the treaty is signed, and that they also be guaranteed adequate food and clothing.

The latest communications followed two submitted by the Germans last week one was immediately referred to the league of nations. The other declared that the terms in general are not consistent with the principles of right and justice. To the first the allies replied by referring the Germans to the league covenant, which shows how Germany may seek membership. To the second the allies stated they would not admit discussion of their right to enforce the terms substantially as drafted.

Couriers are rushing forth and back between Versailles and Berlin, like shuttlecocks, keeping the German government posted on progress of official translation of the treaty and whatever information is gathered by the delegates.

Both sides are now carrying on a propaganda as vigorous as that during the war. Chancellor Schiedemann's speech to the national assembly and German editorial comment fail in this category, while the British and French press are displayng great vindictiveness toward the enemy. Despite this propaganda, some factions of either side seem inclined to depart from the accepted attitude regarding the treaty. The socialist federation of the Seine department, it was announced, passed resolutions today declaring the treaty worse than that of Brest-Litovsk. According to the resolutions, the terms "violate self-determination" and "show the imperialism of the entente."

It was learned today that President Wilson does not plan to submit an actual treaty of alliance, joining the United States and England with Franco to the coming session of congress. Instead, he merely intends to present the proposal for such an alliance. The senate would then have an opportunity to discuss the matter, and if it signifies approval of such a plan, for defense of France, the treaty could be drawn up and formally submitted.

AS UNCLE SAM WOULD GARDEN

HOW·TO·GROW

CARROTS AND PARSNIPS.

Carrots are one of the most desirable garden crops from the standpoint of producing a large quantity of food on a small area. They require a deeply prepared, rich soil for their best development. The seed may be sown about the time frost danger is past.

Plant the seed in drills fourteen to eighteen inches apart and about ten to twelve seed to each foot of drill. Cover one-half to three-quarters of an inch, and as soon as the carrots are about two inches in height, thin to an even stand with the plants two to three inches apart. Where the plants are not too thick in the row, the thinning need not be done until some of them are alrge enough to use on the table as baby carrots.

Late planting of carrots may be made following early cabbage, lettuce, or radishes. The second or late plantings should mature just before frost and are better for storage than the earlier planting.

Early spring parsnips may be grown and used the same as early carrots, but ordinarily are planted later, are given a full season to mature, and are used only during the winter months. Their planting and cultivation is practically the same as for carrots. Parsnips may remain in the ground during the winter and are not injured by freezing.—United States Department of Agricutue.

Notice to Dog Owners.

I have checked up the assessor's dog list in Jackson county with the city records and find that there are fifty-five owners who have listed dogs with the townships, but who have not taken out city licenses. Unless the city licenses are purchased immediately prosecutions will follow. The licenses are procurable from the office of the city clerk. The city tax on dogs is $2 for males and $3 for females.

have emerged triumphant from the mightiest conflict in human history.

Two years ago we were just getting upon the task which providence had assigned us. Now the war is won and the terms of peace will soon be imposed upon an impotent foe.

Two years ago only a few had come to the full realization of the work before us, had come to know that it was necessary to raise a great American army but necessary to organize the entire American people for a conflict not of armies but of nations. The agency selected for this task was the council of defense in national, state and local organizations.

I need not tell you how successful was this organization of Indiana. The Hoosier people will ever have cause to remember with pride the record of their commonwealth in the great wordl war. In the raising of troops and money, in the production of food and munitions in the fine example of loyalty and devotion to duty our people were surpassed by none in America.

A great share of the credit for all of this is due to you men and women of the state and county councils of defense.

With splendid leadership and a fine spirit of patriotism and industry you organzed the state of Indiana for war purposes from the townships up. You educated the people as to the necessity of submitting willingly to the drafts; you made it possible for our boys going into the service to secure legal and medical assistance for the asking; with your speakers' bureau, your publicity and the good example of your own conduct you created sentiment and furnished inspiration for the successful conduct of the Liberty Loan campaigns and other movements for the raising of funds for patriotic purpose; you encouraged patriotic endtavors of merit and discouraged those which were ill-advised; you inspired the people to production and conservation of food and fuel; you directed the organization of local patriotic organizations of a miltary and civil nature,, and last, but not least you inspired and created so fine a spirit of Americanism in Indiana that any tendency to dsloyalty and cedition was nipped in the bud, and Indiana was at all times pro-American in heart and soul.

The council of defense, state and county, of Indiana is generally recognized as one of the most efficient in America and I believe that this is due not only to your splendd organization but to the fact that you evidenced at all times a broad spirit, a spirit of real patriotism, of sanity and sound judgment. The only qualities which counted were Americanism, sincerity, ndustry and ntegrity which are words almost synonomous.

Because of these things, because of what has been accomplished, because of your loyal, generous service at personal and financial sacrifice, service given without remuneration, without hope of reward except the satisfaction which comes in the realization of work well done, the people of Indiana owe to the state and the county councils of defense a debt of eternal gratitude, a debt which cannot be paid in material things, but one which I am sure they will never forget.

"But now blessed peace, that priceless boon to mankind, is about to settle upon us once more. We have just witnessed the greatest pageant in the history of our state—the return of one army of Indiana veterans of the world war, and in so doing we have paid our tribute and extended our welcome to every Hoosier, no matter where he may now be, who had a part in the conflict.

"So it comes to pass that although its healthful influence will live in the Hoosier commonwealth for many years, the active work of the Indiana council of defense has come to an end.

"Therefore, I, James P. Goodrich, Governor of the State of Indiana, in the name of a people which has performed its full share in assisting the government to achieve the world victory which has come to us, to declare the Indiana council of defense to be dissolved, trusting as I do that while its activities have ceased, the inspiration of its good works will remain with the Hoosier people forever.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Indiana to be affixed. Done at the Capitol in Indianapolis this twelfth day of May, A. D. 1919.

"James P. Goodrich,
"Governor."

PRESIDENT DESIGNATES JUNE 8-14 AS BOY SCOUT WEEK

Campaign To Be Waged for Million Associate Members and Scoutmasters.

Washington, May 12—President Wilson, in a proclamation made public here today, recommended that the period beginning June 8 to Flag day, June 14, be observed over the country as Boy Scout week for the purpose of strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America. The President urged that in every community a citizens' committee be organized to cooperate in carrying out a program "for extending the Boy Scout program to a larger proportion of American boyhood."

Under plans announced by James E. West, chief Scout executive, a nation wide campaign will be conducted for 1,000,000 associate members to act as scoutmasters, assistants and other leaders of the Scout troops. The country will be divided into twelve districts.

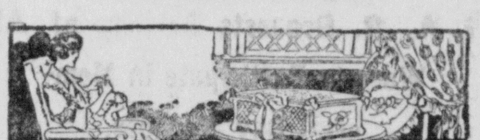
Are You Awaiting The Great Crisis?

If So, Do Not Allow the Time to Pass With Nature Unaided.



Women who give nature a helping hand during the period of expectancy find that when the time arrives for baby's coming it is approached and passed with infinitely less pain and danger.

Thousands of women for over half a century have learned that in the time-honored preparation, Mother's Friend, they have a grateful, relaxing, penetrating remedy, the use of which makes it possible for them to go through childbirth without the usual nausea, nervousness, bearing-down and stretching pains, and that through its use the hours at the crisis are fewer and of much less pain and danger.

Mother's Friend penetrates the muscles, rendering them pliant and easily governed by the demands of nature. They relax gently and bring happy days and calm, restful nights. As the result the crisis is passed with greater ease and in less time, the breasts are kept in good condition and the skin is made and kept soft and free from blemishes.

Write to the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. P, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from your druggist today and thoroughly fortify yourself for the coming event.

MORE RED BLOOD AND STEADIER NERVES FOR RUN DOWN PEOPLE

The World Demands, Strong, Vigorous, Keen-Minded, Men and Women

It has been said of Americans that they work their habits overtime.

Many become nervous and inefficient by overwork.

By worry, despondency, social affairs, robbing brain and body of needed rest; excessive use of tobacco, indulgence in strong alcoholic drink—excesses of every kind that burn up the vital powers so necessary in these trying times to make both men and women fit to be of help to themselves and others.

It is time to be temperate in all things. The man or woman with impaired nerves caused by impoverished blood lacks vigor, the ambition, the endurance and the keen mind of those who avoid excesses.

Timidness, despondency, fear, trembling hands, want of confidence and even cowardliness, are due in a large measure to abused nerves.

People with plenty of red blood corpuscles and strong, healthy nerves have no desire to shirk work and lean on others for guidance and support.

There is hardly a nerve-shattered man or woman (unless of an organic disease) in America today who cannot become alert and clear in mind; vigorous and energetic in body in a very few weeks and at trifling cost.

To become strong and ambitious, to feel that work is not drudgery; to have steady nerves, abundance of red blood and power of endurance; to be not only a man but as men now go, a superman, you must take seven tablets of Bio-feren every day for seven days—and take them faithfully.

Take two after each meal and one at bedtime and after seven days take one only after meal until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if your nerves are not twice as steady as before; if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen-minded, the pharmacist who dispensed the tablets to you will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest remedy for nervous, rundown, weak, anaemic men and women ever offered direct through druggists and is not at all expensive. All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand—sell many packages.

Hardly a Drugstore in the Land That Does Not Sell This Remedy

On the Market Half a Century.

When you are in perfect health, and are enjoying a strong and vigorous vitality, it is then that your blood is free from all impurities.

You should be very careful and give heed to the slightest indication of impure blood. A sluggish circulation is often indicated by an impaired appetite, a feeling of lassitude and a general weakening of the system. It is then that you should promptly take a few bottles of S. S. S., the great blood purifier and strengthener. It will cleanse the blood thoroughly and build up and strengthen the whole system. S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Valuable information about the blood supply can be had free by writing to the Swift Specific Co., 24 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The court held that such corporations are not under the supervision of the commission insofar as rate matters are concerned. The commission has contended that it has authority to change rates of all corporations when exessive or unfair schedules for either the corporations or the public are proved.

The case of the Indianapolis traction and terminal company was recently decided in favor of the company by the supreme court. The question involved in that case was very similar to the local issue, the company having elected to retain its franchise. However, the decisions in the two cases were based upon different sections of the utility commisson law. It will be some weeks before the local case is given a hearing in the supreme court and months will pass before the decision is handed down by the supreme court, it is believed.

Nervousness and Headaches Caused by Acid-Stomach

There is a much closer connection between the stomach and brain than most people imagine. It is because of this close connection that indigestion, belching, sour, gassy stomach and other stomach miseries—all of which are sure signs of acid stomach—are so often followed by severe attacks of blinding, splitting headaches.

Nervousness, sleeplessness, irritability, mental depression, melancholia and many other disorders which affect the brain can also nearly always be traced to the same source—acid-stomach.

So often you hear people say "I am so nervous I think I'll fly to pieces;" or "It seems I never get a good night's sleep any more, my nerves are all on edge." Little do they dream that acid stomach is the direct cause of their troubles because very often there are no pains in the stomach at all. So you see, you can't always judge an acid-stomach condition by the way your stomach, itself, feels.

If you are weak, nervous, unfit—if you are not up to your old time form—if you lack your accustomed enthusiasm, energy and pep—make this test and see if it isn't acid-stomach that is holding you back—robbing you of your health, strength and vigor. Get a big box of EATONIC—the wonderful modern medicine that so quickly puts an acid stomach to rights. It is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets that you eat like a bit of candy. EATONIC rids the stomach of excess acid. Brings instant relief from indigestion, heartburn, sour belching, food repeating, bloat and gas and makes the stomach cool, pure, sweet and comfortable.

Dentists warn us against the bad effects of acid mouth, pointing out that the acid eats through the enamel of the teeth, causing them to decay. You can easily imagine then the amount of damage excess acid will cause to the delicate organization of the stomach!

Thousands of people are using EATONIC and the results obtained are so remarkable as to be almost unbelievable. Yet their letters of gratitude, many of which are received daily, prove absolutely that EATONIC does all and even more than we claim. The medical profession, too, recognizes the great value of this wonderful remedy. A learned Michigan doctor wrote recently: "I have had such wonderful success with EATONIC that I want every one to know how quickly it will neutralize the acidity of the the stomach (acid-stomach) and the stomach will soon be sweet and normal again, and the sick man well and happy once more."

So be sure to get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist today. If it fails in any way to give you the kind of satisfaction you want, take it back—he will refund your money. He doesn't want one penny of your money unless EATONIC helps you.

MINISTER SPEAKS TO SEYMOUR LODGE

marks mentioned the new elements that are creating a new-world Democracy. He set forth how men of all classes and levels and social standings fought side by side in the world war; that organizations like the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, the Jewish organization the Red Cross and Salvation Army all socialized their forces for a common goal; that this new interpretation of Democracy is more and more to be emphasized by not only the church but likewise by fraternal organizations, and that it is the privilege and the opportunity of such organizations as the Red Men, to forget class distinction and to note the work of a human life and its relation to society.

"The Red Men as a fraternal organization inherits certain traditions and ideals of our fathers, and are connected as an organization by a deep sense of patriotism to the government and its institutions," the minister said. "The patriotism of the Red Men as an organization was well emphasized during the late war in the many millions of Liberty bonds they purchased, the contributions they made to the Red Cross and other allied causes. The Red Men, as an organization, is well known for its dispensing of material support for the physical needs of its membership and families. That organization stands high in its work in the spirit of charity and love."

In speaking of the elements of Christian manhood which the Red Men endeavor to live and reflect, the minister emphasized the broad and tolerant principle of charity for each other in the common things of life and the danger of unjust criticism and fault finding and the gossip which often leaves ruin in its path. "As members of this organization," the minister said, "let us practice that charity and good will that will at last make of all men one great brotherhood. Let us practice honesty, thoughtfulness, frankness, sobriety, and under all conditions maintain a high ideal of moral living."

In closing the minister congratulated the members of the organizations upon their splendid membership in numbers and character, the splendid work they have done in Seymour during the time the lodge was instituted, the ideals they maintain and the worth they can be to a community for social and moral betterment.

PASTOR'S SALARY IS INCREASED BY CHURCH

Baptists Add Five Hundred Dollars To Salary of Rev. F. A. Hayward, Effective At Once.

At a specially called meeting of the First Baptist church Sunday morning at the close of the morning preaching service, the church voted to increase the salary of the pastor, Rev. F. A. Hayward, from $1500 to $2,000, effective at once. A committee was appointed to arrange for raising the additional amount for the church budget. Another committee was appointed to look into the matter of a parsonage and recommend to the church what action will be best. Special subscriptions were taken at the meeting also to meet outstanding current bills. N. M. Carlson, trustee, presided at the meeting.

Rev. F. A. Hayward has been pastor of the church in Seymour since October, 1917. The church has grown numerically as well as in the activities of its members during this period. Forty-nine have been added to the church since January 1, twenty-eight of these being by baptism. Mr. Hayward has been untiring in his work both for the church itself and for the interests of the city of Seymour and surrounding territory.

A meeting of the district Epworth League of the Methodist church, was held in this city Saturday at the home of Miss Frances Teckemeyer, 306 West Fourth street. The program for the convention which will be held in July, was made out at this meeting. Among those who were present were Miss Alice Kranz, of Sellersburg, district president; Miss Porterfield, Hartsfield; Miss May Runyon of North Vernon; and Miss Mildred Murray of Columbus.

Mrs. Maurice McDonald, formerly Mrs. Bessie Jacobs, came here Friday evening from Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, who were married several weeks ago at Madison, have gone to housekeeping on South Broadway.

Training Little Children

By Florence A. Pardee.

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and the National Kindergarten Association, 3 West Fortieth Street, New York.

Co-operation between kindergarten and home may sound rather formidable, but it really is just thinking over what your precious four-year-old is doing every day in his new environment. He is no a longer a baby, but a boy. Are you helping or hindering him in his effort to establish his own identity among thirty other little folks, and to live happily with them?

Perhaps he has never played with children and is diffident or masterful. In the little social world of the kindergarten he finds that each child has rights—a right to skip or play ball, for instance, and that every child has a turn and he must wait for his sometimes.

Orderly ways are learned here. His hat and coat (with sleeves right side out) must be hung on his own low hook. Have one at home for his special use. Putting on and taking off rubbers is another way to self-help which mother, as well as kindergartner, may foster. Toys, blocks and scrapbooks used during free play periods in kindergarten must be put back where they were taken from. Cultivate this habit: it is a good one.

Our days always begin happily, with friendly greetings, songs, lovely music or stories and pictures. A "grown-up" calendar this year says: "Be pleasant every morning until ten o'clock; the rest of the day will take care of itself."

Help the child's memory and vocabulary by encouraging him to repeat the kindergarten songs and stories. Then sing or tell him a new one. In the brisk marching and games of the kindergarten the natural impulse to be anything, from a horse to an airship, is gratified. Help to develop the imagination and imitative faculty in this way at home sometimes. Help us answer the endless questions which it is the child's right to have answered.

A promise for good or evil must always be kept, so please don't threaten to give him to the policeman, who is the child's best friend when he is lost.

So often a bit of neat pasting, good paper folding, a crayon sketch or cut-out picture done in kindergarten is quite ignored by the busy mother. Could you have seen the absorbed interest, the screwed-up mouth or the twisting tongue necessary for a small person to accomplish this real work for your pleasure, surely you would have given praise where it was due. Besides, the training of eye and hand is invaluable and should be encouraged in every possible way.

Above all, visit the kindergarten without waiting for Christmas invitations. Compare notes with the kindergartner, and you may be surprised at the dual nature your boy presents, and the help it will be to see him from another angle.

For the mother who lives in a neighborhood without a public kindergarten, there is this message. Try to get all the mothers in your vicinity to petition the school board for one. Interest influential men and women of the community in your plans. Write to the United States Bureau of Education for a petition form and leaflets.

Keep in touch with modern kindergarten literature; this is listed in the free catalogues of the kindergarten supply houses: Milton Bradley Co., Springfield, Mass., and E. Steiger & Co., 49 Murray Street, New York. Keep on telling stories from Mother Goose classics. Plan systematic occupations for the children and sit by and work with them daily. Play games yourself with them and invite other children to come and join in. Take walks and enjoy the great out- of-door school at all times of the year.

Help to reach all the parents of the country by cutting this out and passing it on to a friend.

Spring Blouses

Prominently displayed in the art needlework department of one of New York's most interesting shops is a rainbow assortment of dainty blouses in many pastel shades of handkerchief linen. At the first glance, they resemble the smocks with which every one is familiar, but a closer examination proves them to be cut somewhat shorter, in order to be practicable when worn either inside or outside the belt. Instead of the usual smocking for decoration, they are effectively embroidered in the cross-stitch, which is now so much in vogue, worked in deeper hues of mercerized cotton. These blouses are prettiest when cut simply, with a V neck and turn-back collar of the linen. The sleeves, which are quite loose, are set in large armholes to conform with the flare of the blouse, are gathered in snugly at the wrists and finished with a narrow, rather full ruffle, which falls over the hands.

The embroidery is placed across the front of the blouse, at the corners of the collar as a finishing touch around the edges of the wrist ruffles and, oddly enough, on the upper part of the sleeve, just over the forearm. A skein of loosely braided embroidery floss makes an unusual and effective tie to slip under the collar. Because these blouses are made so as to allow freedom of movement, they are excellent for spring outdoor wear; and, since their fabric is very soft, they may be worn inside the belt, if preferred. Instead of the linen, a fine quality of dotted Swiss may be used to advantage, and, when it is possible to obtain this material with colored dots, exceptionally pretty effects may be secured by using deeper tones for the embroidery and tie.

A variety of afternoon blouses are being made similar to the foregoing, by using heavier materials and embroidery floss. A beautiful blouse of black satin, closely resembling the mandarin style, except that it is closed at the sides, is embellished, with rich applique or elaborately embroidered motifs along the hem. The sleeve of this blouse is cut in the kimono style to give a graceful, unbroken line from the neck to the top of the cuff, which is unusually deep and flares in true oriental fashion. To accentuate the depth of the cuff, a narrow border of embroidery is worked along the top, which may consist of three rows of a simple running stitch in contrasting worsteds. The stitches may be alternated in length, if some regular pattern is followed, or they may be varied in their placing, row above row. The same design is followed in finishing the round, collarless neck line. An effective touch is supplied in the addition of a loosely twisted skein of woolen worsted to suggest a tie in front, if this is desired. The border of the hem forms the chief interest center of the garment, and it should be heavily embroidered with an unusual pattern in which beautiful colors and odd shapes are curiously involved. If the design is padded well, the effect will be richer than it would be otherwise. Such a blouse may be worn to advantage with a large felt hat, having a flat brim, and simply trimmed with a black loop and bow at the side.

Another afternoon blouse was of blue silk crepe, made slightly longer than the rest, and trimmed with a round collar of mauve chiffon and a loose tie belt of the crepe. The hem of this model was richly embroidered with a pattern of mauve and black chenille, and the flowing sleeves were relieved by a border to match, designed on slightly smaller dimensions. A large mauve or black felt hat is smart when worn with this blouse.

The woman who is still interested in sport clothes for the winter resort, may find a white silk jersey cloth blouse, designed effectively in black, of particular interest. A white felt sport hat, trimmed with a black silk cord and tassel, is just the right touch to complete the outfit.

Some of the smocks, made of crepe and linen, bound in colors and with the neck line cut shallow, are very attractive. One of these is made in white linen, its neck and sleeves bound with a band of soft tan wool braid one inch wide, with a girdle of the braid to match. Another variety is a little white crepe smock, bound in bright calico, with a scarlet picoted ribbon girdle, while a shrimp pink crepe smock is finished with soft gray, having a ribbon girdle of the same shade. For the woman who likes striking effects, a white smock, with black linen binding and a black and white ribbon girdle, would be appropriate.

STATELY BLOUSE OF LACE

Fine lace and the sheerest georgette, together with embroidery, make this stately blouse for formal dress. The sleeves of georgette have deep cuffs of lace. The collar extends to the waistline and there is a vestee of embroidered georgette and a jabot of lace.

Hats of white organdie made of petal-shaped sections in graduating sizes is another exquisite millinery creation designed in America.

22-INCH CENTERPIECE.

Among the attractive embroidery designs are the ever popular flower baskets. This piece is especially charming with the filet insets. The flowers are eyelets; ribbon and leaves, satin stitch; and the stems and baskets in outline. The scallops are heavily padded and buttonholed.

JELLY ROLL.

2 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup granulated sugar; grated rind of 1 lemon; 1-3 cupful hot water; 1 tablespoonful butter; 1 cupful flour; 1½ teaspoonfuls baking powder; ¼ teaspoonful salt; confectioner's sugar; currant jelly.

Gradually beat the sugar into the eggs, add the grated rind, the butter melted in the hot water and the flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Beat all together thoroughly and turn into a shallow pan lined with a well buttered paper. Bake about eighteen minutes, turn at once onto a clean cloth trim off the crisp jelly and roll over and over, keeping edges on the four sides, spread with the cloth between the fingers and the cake. Roll the cake in a cloth. When ready to serve, sift confectioner's sugar over the top of cake.

LADY BALTIMORE CAKE.

½ cupful butter; 1½ cupfuls sugar; ¾ cupful water; 2½ cupfuls flour; 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; 4 egg whites, beaten stiff.

Cream the butter, gradually beat in the sugar, alternating at the last with some of the water. Sift the dry ingredients and add, alternately, with the rest of the water. Beat the mixture until smooth, add the whites of the eggs and beat thoroughly. Bake in three well buttered layer cake pans about eighteen minutes. Put the layers together and cover the outside with the following frosting:

3 cupfuls granulated sugar; 1 cupful boiling water; 3 egg whites, beaten stiff; 1 cupful chopped raisins; 1 cupful chopped nut meats; 5 figs cut in bits; ½ teaspoonful vanilla extract; 1-3 teaspoonful rose extract; 1-3 teaspoonful lemon extract.

Melt the sugar in the water, cover and let boil until a soft ball may be formed in cold water; pour in a fine stream on the egg whites beating constantly meanwhile; add the fruit, nuts and flavoring and beat until cool enough to use.

ONE EGG CAKE

Cream together one cup granulated sugar and one tablespoonful butter substitute. One egg beaten well in a cup, then fill the cup with milk. Two cups flour, sift first and then measure. Two teaspoonfuls baking powder. Flavoring.

GINGER COOKIES

Take ½ cup molasses and fill the cup with brown sugar. Cream with 1 teaspoonful cinnamon, ¼ teaspoonful cloves, ½ teaspoonful ginger, a little nutmeg, ½ cup shortening and 1 well beaten egg. Add ½ cup boiling water in which a teaspoonful of soda is dissolved, mix this with enough flour to roll out.

SUGAR COOKIES

Two cups sugar, 1 cup butter, three-fourths cup water, two teaspoonfuls soda, one teaspoonful cream of tartar. Flour enough to roll thin. Nutmeg if desired.

CUSTARD PIE

Take 1 pint of cold milk, in a small portion of which dissolve 1 teaspoonful corn starch, and when smooth, add sugar, salt, nutmeg, and one well beaten egg. Beat all together, pour into a pan lined with pie crust and bake. When pie is baked, the custard will not adhere to a silver knife when tested in the center of pie. If cooked too long it will be watery.

BLACK CHOCOLATE CAKE

1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoonful butter 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoonful soda, 2 squares chocolate, nearly 2 cups flour, and flavor with vanillla.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE.

2½ cupfuls pastry flour; 5 teaspoonfuls baking powder; ½ teaspoonful salt; 1-3 cupful butter; about 1 cup milk; butter; 2 baskets berries; 1½ cupfuls granulated sugar; whipped cream; sugar.

Sift together theflour, bakingpowder and salt; with two knives or the tips of the fingers work in the butter; then use milk as needed to mix to a soft dough. With a spoon spread the dough in two well buttered cake pans. Bake about fifteen minutes. Turn one cake on a large chop plate, spread the bottom with butter, cover with strawberries mixed with the sugar; set the second cake above the berries, spread this with butter and the rest of the berries. Serve with or without cream.

The Hearthside Basket

A number of persons, whose homes are made cozy by open fireplaces, are using attractive baskets as containers for the extra supply of firewood which it is convenient to keep close by. These baskets must be unusually strong in order to be of service, but at the same time, they may then be made as decorative as one may desire. They are displayed in a number of shapes and sizes, and are obtainable either with varnished or unvarnished surfaces. If intended for the room which has highly polished furniture, the baskets may be given a glazed surface; those used in the bungalow are, of course, much simpler. Where an odd touch is desired, the baskets are painted in brilliant Japanese patterns, with colored flowers on dark backgrounds, and with a touch of gilt and a silk tassel or two to complete their festive appearance. As the baskets are kept well back from the fireplace, such decoration is not important.

When There is Too Much Cereal

Here are two recipes provided by the United States Food Administration for the housekeeper who would like to know what to do with the cereal left over when too much was prepared for breakfast:

Oatmeal molded with raisins.—Cover three tablespoons of good raisins with rapidly boiling water, and let stand just long enough to swell out and soften; remove seeds and cut in two. Stir these into two cups of cooked oatmeal not to break the grains of oatmeal. Moisten any small cups or jelly glasses with cold water, half fill with the mixture and set away in a cold place. Serve with whole milk.

Rice Custard.—Cook one cup of cold boiled rice and one-half cup of milk in double boiler until rice is very soft. Beat one egg light with one tablespoon of sugar and a sprinkling of salt. Pour hot rice and milk gradually over egg mixture, stirring well. Transfer to dish in which custard is to be served. Grate nutmeg over top. Serve very cold.

A Hot Fruit Drink.

Cloves cinnamon, ¼ of a lemon, pint bottle of juice (loganberry, raspberry, grapejuice, etc.) ½ pint of water. Squeeze in juice, put in rind, sweeten to taste. Serve hot.

GREEN FANCY

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Author of "GRAUSTARK," "THE HOLLOW OF HER HAND," "THE PRINCE OF GRAUSTARK," ETC.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Second Wayfarer Is Transformed.

O'Dowd returned late in the afternoon. He was in a hurry to get back to Green Fancy; there was no mistaking his uneasiness.

"For the love of heaven, Barnes, get her away from here as soon as possible, and do it as secretly as you can," he said. "I may as well tell you that she is in more danger from the government secret service than from anyone up yonder."

"She may prefer to face the music, O'Dowd. If I know her at all, she will refuse to run away."

"Then ye'll have to kidnap her," said the Irishman earnestly. "There will be men swarming here from both sides of the border by tomorrow night or next day. It's the gospel truth, and—it's going to be bad for all of us if we're here when they come."

"Who is she, O'Dowd? Man to man, tell me the truth. I want to know just where I stand."

O'Dowd hesitated, looked around the taproom, and then leaned across the table.

"Miss Cameron is in reality the Countess Therese Mara-Dafanda—familiarly and lovingly known in her own land as the Countess Ted. She was visiting in this country when the war broke out. If it is of any use to you, I'll add that she would be rich if Aladdin could only come to life and restore the splendors of the demolished castle, refill the chests of gold that have been emptied by the conquerors, and restock the farms that have been pillaged and devastated. In the absence of Aladdin, however, she is almost as poor as the ancient church mouse. So there you are, me man. Half the royal progeny of Europe have been suitors for her hand, and the other half would be if they didn't happen to be of the same sex. Good-by. I must be on my way." He arose and held out his hand. "Good-by and good luck forever."

"You are a brick, O'Dowd. I want to see you again. You will always find me—"

"Thanks. Don't issue any rash invitations. I might take you up."

Barnes started upstairs as soon as O'Dowd was off, urged by an eagerness that put wings on his feet and a thrill of excitement in his blood. Halfway up he stopped short. A new condition confronted him. What was the proper way to approach a person of royal blood? He would have to think.

Pausing at her door, he was at once aware of voices inside the room.

He rapped on the door, but so timorously that nothing came of it. His second effort was productive. He heard Miss Thackeray say "good gracious," and, after a moment, Miss Cameron's subdued: "What is it?"

"May I come in?" he inquired, rather ashamed of his vigor. "It's only Barnes."

"Come in," was her lively response. "It was awfully good of you, Miss Thackeray, to let me hear your lines. I think you will be a great success in the part."

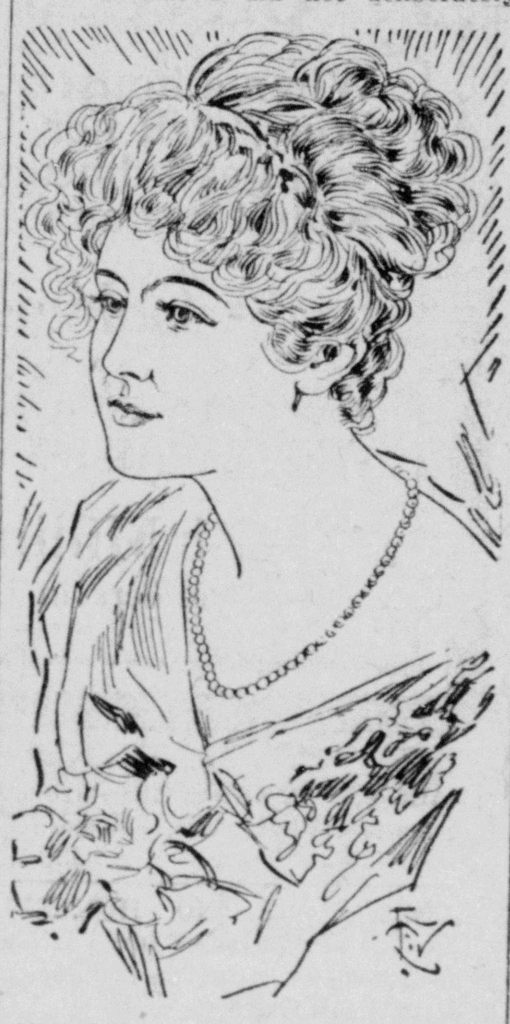
"Thanks," said Miss Thackeray dryly. "I'll come in again and let you hear me in the third act." She went out, mumbling her lines as she passed Barnes without seeing him.

"I hope you will feel able to leave this place tomorrow, countess. We must get away almost immediately."

"Ah, you have been listening to O'Dowd, I see."

"Yes. He tells me it will be dangerous to—"

"He is right. It would be difficult for me to clear myself. No one would believe that I did not deliberately make off with the jewels. They would say that I—oh, it is too dreadful!"



"Miss Cameron Is Lovingly Known in Her Own Land as the Countess Ted."

"Don't worry about that," he exclaimed. "You have me to testify that—"

"How little you know of intrigue," she cried. "They would laugh at you and say that you were merely another fool who had lost his head over a woman. They would say that I duped you—"

"No!" he cried vehemently. "Your people know better than you think. You are disheartened, discouraged. Things will look brighter tomorrow."

"I don't know what I should do without you," she said.

$56,000 TO BE EXPENDED AT VILLAGE FOR EPILEPTICS

Bids Opened Today for Extensive Building Improvements at Newcastle.

By United Press

Indianapolis, May 12.—Whether the complete building program for the village of epileptics at Newcastle can be finished this year depends entirely upon the bids being opened here today for the first part of the number.

Twelve buildings are called for in the improvement plans and the estimated cost of these would be $450,000. The bids were being opened for a few of these buildings today in the office of an Indianapolis architect.

Three structures—two for the boys group of buildings and a small hospital for colony No. 2—will be erected at once at an estimated cost of $56,000.

The building improvement at the epileptic farm as well as at many other state institutions, has been delayed because of excessive freight rates. Governor Goodrich has also held up the road improvement under the highway commission law for the same reason. It is understood that the governor has given his approval to the plan for opening the bids for these buildings today since there is no immediate prospect of lower rates.

Mrs. Charles Simon and two daughters and Samuel Kelly, of Nashville, Brown county, motored here Sunday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lane.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Jonteel 50¢

Perfumed with the Costly New Odor of 26 Flowers

DOESN'T blow or brush off the face, but sticks closely, giving a dainty "bloom", far different from that chalky "make-up" look of inferior powders. Doubly delightful with its rich Jonteel fragrance. Try a box today.

VETERANS OF LATE WAR ARE INVITED

invitation to take part in the day's program.

Arrangements are already under way whereby six or seven of the Seymour fraternal orders will aid the veterans in making the exercises as successful as in the past. A meeting of the lodge representatives and the G. A. R. committee will be held tomorrow night at the office of Mayor C. W. Burkart, chairman of the general committee, at which time plans will be outlined in detail.

The Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor of the First M. E. church, has accepted the invitation of the veterans to deliver the address for the occasion. The Post has the exercises in charge and it is announced that the speech of the day will be made at Riverview cemetery if the weather permits. In case of rain, the ceremony will be held at the Central Christian church, it is announced.

The Post is quite anxious to have a large representation of the World War veterans in the parade and committees will be appointed to secure the names of those who will march so that arrangements can be made for that section of the parade.

Sgt. Charles Lough, who is stationed at Camp Taylor, awaiting discharge, spent Sunday here the guest of friends. Sgt. Lough has just returned from overseas where he has been in active service with the railroad transportation corps. Sgt. Lough was formerly employed at the Batlimore & Ohio round house in this city as a mechanic.
